

OUR VISION

In the farm as in a garden

Giardino Agricolo - Agricultural Garden
A garden is a place of peace and well-being, where man and nature work harmoniously together.

This is the vision of the farm in UDO, a farm as a garden a place full of natural beauty, were it is nice to live and work.

WERE WE ARE

The Prosecco Hills of Conegliano and Valdobbiadene

Unesco Heritage

The main feature of this hilly landscape located in the north-east of Italy, are the rows of vines that can still be worked only by hand. This territory represents the exceptional result of the interaction between man and environment, shaped through the years by agriculture in an almost symbiotic relationship between man and nature.

The mosaic-like landscape is characterized by small vineyards on the hogbacks that coexist with corners of forest, small woods, hedges and rows of trees.

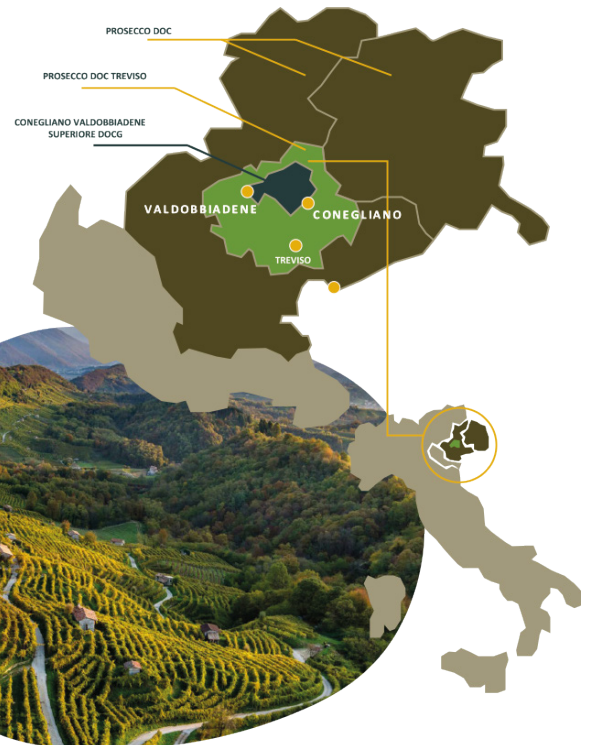

The Story

A Passion That Originates From Afar

Federico Ricci since childhood has always been passionate about agriculture and animal husbandry. Following in the footsteps of his winemaker grandfather and farmer father.

Growing up among vineyards and wineries, Federico later developed and matured his vision of what is now “UDO” with work experience in Australia and France at major wineries.

The name “UDO” is short for Udorico, affectionate family nickname from Federico’s childhood.

THE GARDEN Diversity

The Key Element for Sustainable Agriculture With this principle in mind the farm includes vineyards, apricot trees, olive trees, meadows and woods.

In our crops we use useful insects for pollination and make use of active defense methods such as sexual confusion, insects nets and rain screens in order to have fruit that is beautiful, tasty and at the same time healthy and nutritious.

THE FARM

Our Animals, Future Meets Past

Over the years, the farm has been enriched and today it is home to many animals as it once was in the farmhouses.

Everyone brings their own contribution bees, ponies and horses, sheep and chickens, cows and donkeys.

OUR WINES

UDO Prosecco DOC Brut

Delicate and fresh aromas of green apple, cedar and white peach as well as notes of spring flowers. Crisp and refreshing, the wine is dry but it keeps an amazing finesse.

UDO Prosecco DOC Extra Dry

Delicate hints of apple and white peach, acacia flowers and orange blossoms. On the palate harmonious and sulky mouthfeel.

UDO Prosecco DOCG Extra Dry

It is ample, the nose is filled with aromas of ripe fruits, such as apple and pear, along with delicate floral notes of acacia and hints of white flowers. On the palate hits an ideal balance between freshness and a touch of sweetness. It matches the wide bouquet with a pleasantly sweet aftertaste that lingers gracefully.

UDO Prosecco DOCG Extra Brut

Unripe pear and green apple, wild floral and citrusy notes. On the palate, it is sharp and refreshing, with a pronounced acidity that perfectly balances the wine's delicate fruit flavors.

UDO Prosecco DOCG Brut Nature

Sui Lieviti Millesimato

Notes of wildflowers, apple, ripe pear, citrus fruit, croissant, pan brioches. Harmonious and decisive, it reveals mineral notes, sapidity and uncommon elegance.
